Reviewer's report:

General

Major Compulsory Revisions (that the author must respond to before a decision on publication can be reached)
None

Minor Essential Revisions (such as missing labels on figures, or the wrong use of a term, which the author can be trusted to correct)
None

Discretionary Revisions (which the author can choose to ignore)
It is good to know that the conclusions of the original paper are supported by a more rigorous analysis. I have only one additional suggestion to make.
1. The authors have reported the results of hypothesis tests, but the readers will have no understanding of what the mean scores were nor how they varied within and between samples. A table of summary statistics might be helpful.

What next?: Accept after discretionary revisions
